Ross' Report

We are in the process of finalising our staffing, grade structure and classes for 2025. Next Tuesday is the statewide transition day for Victorian schools. All students attending Avenel Primary School in 2025, including our new prep students, spend the day at our school. Students not returning to Avenel PS in 2025 do not need to attend our school on that day as we will be trialing 2025 classes. The class which the students are in on Tuesday, will not necessarily be their final class for next year, as final classes will be released at the end of the school year.

In terms of staffing, Danielle Pearce and Carrye Malone will not be returning in 2025 and Abbey Phelps has been successful in gaining a position at another school next year. We thank Danielle, Carrye and Abbey for their work at Avenel Primary School and will acknowledge this in the coming weeks. We are pleased to have appointed Elyse Lambert as our Wellbeing Coordinator in 2025. We have also secured classroom teaching positions for Elle Thomas and Melanie Schmidt. We welcome them to the Avenel Primary School team.

Next Monday the 2025 school captain nominees will be presenting their speech to the senior students. This will occur straight after the Monday morning assembly and we wish all of the captain nominees the best of luck.

This Friday the grade 1s and 2s are having their major excursion and sleepover at school. The students will travel to Echuca where they will spend the day learning about and riding on a paddle steamer before they return to school and have dinner and a sleepover. It will be a great experience for our grade 1s and 2s.

Yesterday the Singing Group was fortunate enough to have the talented Mick Harrington, famous for his appearance on the Voice, come to our school and teach our students about music, singing, performing and working together in a choir. It was an amazing experience made possible by the generosity of Mark and Hayley Thomas who donated the money to cover the cost of this experience. Thanks for your generosity and for giving our students this unique experience.

Thanks to everyone who supported our Go Blue Day last Friday where everyone had a fun day, while raising money for a worthwhile cause. Please have a read of Hunter's report in today's newsletter.

Your feedback is always welcome at ross.davis@education.vic.gov.au or 0403 565 119.

Avenel Primary School acknowledges Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as the traditional custodians of the land and acknowledges and pays respect to their elders, past and present.

Friendships for Highly Sensitive Children

Written by: Dana Kerford
Founder & Friendship Expert

Raise your hand if you or your child is an HSP, like me? 🙋

It wasn't until I was an adult that I stumbled on the book, The Highly Sensitive Person, by Dr Elaine Aron. I felt like I was reading an autobiography. She perfectly described what I've felt and experienced my whole life.

In her research, she's identified that 15-20% of the population qualify as highly sensitive, having what's called: "Sensory-Processing Sensitivity". These people (adults and children):

- ♥ Feel things deeply. This means, the highs are high and the lows are low.
- ♥ Are sensitive to loud sounds, bright lights, tags on clothing, strong smells. Each of the senses are heightened, so they can feel overwhelmed easily. This also means they are deeply moved when they hear music they love, or smell fresh flowers, or are wrapped up in a hug from a loved one.
- ♥ Are very tuned in to others. They are highly affected by the energy & moods of others, notice subtleties in body language & tone, and are extremely empathetic. HSPs are Empaths.
- ♥ Think deeply and spend a lot of time reflecting. As Dr Aron says, "they have a rich, complex inner life" and tend to get absorbed in thoughts.
- ♥ Are conscientious. They show up on time, follow the rules, and are tuned in to the finer details.
- ♥ Avoid violent, disturbing, or scary experiences. Things that feel upsetting can simply be 'too much' for HSPs.

Within friendship, highly sensitive children are amazing friends – they're super caring and thoughtful. However, little Friendship Fires feel like giant BONFIRES to them. They can also struggle with friends who don't follow the rules, or friends who are loud & aggressive.

For children who are highly sensitive, it's important the adults around them are aware of their heightened nervous system. Parents & teachers can support and empower HSCs by giving them strategies to feel a little more in control and less helpless to their emotions. Start by going through each of the 5 senses with them, providing tips for what they can do when that sense is overwhelmed.

In our Friendology friendship skills curriculum for schools, our kid-friendly tool to help students understand this concept is called: The Sensitivity Spectrum. This came out of our research, interviewing hundreds of students, during one of our many updates to Friendology. We discovered that, above all other factors (like gender, race, socioeconomic, interests, parenting styles, etc.), the level of a child’s sensitivity is a better predictor of behavior in friendships. For example, a child who is highly sensitive & gentle is more likely to have Friendship Fires with a child who is less sensitive & rambunctious. We also identified that children who rate themselves near the same point along The Sensitivity Spectrum tend to have more in common and feel quite “different” from students who rate themselves on the opposite side of the spectrum.

At URSTRONG Schools, we guide our students to understand that each one of us is unique, especially in terms of our sensitivity levels. ✨ Some friends may feel super sensitive about certain topics, while others may feel unaffected. Students discover that they can be more or less sensitive about various things, depending on the situation, and that our sensitivities can change over time. 😊💬

We encourage our students to ponder, “When do we feel most sensitive?” They explore how factors like being tired, hungry, upset, or worried can heighten their sensitivity levels. 💥💡

Understanding the Sensitivity Spectrum is key in navigating friendships and becoming more self-aware. By recognizing where our friends fall on this spectrum, we can better support them. Identifying if our friends are having a rough day or feeling uneasy enables more effective communication and deeper connections. And, recognizing our own sensitivity levels each day allows us to make decisions with self-compassion.

Being highly sensitive is a gift and a superpower in lots of ways, so children need to understand there’s nothing ‘wrong’ with them. It’s a strength that requires “special handling”, as Dr Aron describes. 🧠

Pop over to her website for a quiz you can take to discover if you or your child are part of the HSP club: hsperson.com.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY – Indie Trim

From the Art Room

As we wind down to the end of the term and the year, we are still busy creating in the Art room.

This term we dived into a favourite - clay. We have made little beetles, snails, initial name plaques, plates and chickens.

There have been hearts sewn in preparation for next year's buddies, by our grade 5 students and a lovely sewn surprise for this year's preps, from their grade 6 buddies. Grade 6 students also created a pop-art style self-portrait.

3/4 students have flexed their weaving skills, creating a blanket for their llama, they have also looked at American artist, Heather Galler, creating their own bright bold version of her flower vases.

Preps created a heart bead from air dry clay, then threaded this and beads to create a necklace. 1/2 students also drew some spooky images, lit up by torchlight.

I would like to thank all of the wonderful artists I have taught this year creating masterpiece after masterpiece!

-Mrs K.

Become a Berry Street foster carer

Partner with us and support a local child on their journey.

Childhood is a journey, but not every child starts in the same place. In our local community there are many children and young people who need a safe place to live.

- As a Berry Street foster carer, you'll be a part of a team that is committed to supporting children who are unable to live with their family.

And by providing them with a safe and nurturing home – you'll be there for them at a crucial moment in their life.

Become a Berry Street foster carer berrystreet.org.au/fostercare

A graphic with a teal background and a sun icon, providing information about foster care.

Who can be a foster carer?

There is no 'typical' Berry Street foster carer. Just as every family is different, our foster carers come from diverse backgrounds, cultures and experiences.

Our foster carers:

- are a minimum of 21 years of age
- have a spare bedroom to offer a child or young person
- can be single, married or in a de facto relationship
- can be from LGBTIQ+ communities
- can come from any religion, spirituality or nationality
- may or may not have children of their own
- can be in casual, part-time or full-time work – or perhaps not at all
- live in a home they rent or own

Berry Street foster carers have a passion for supporting others and are committed to providing a safe home for children and young people who need it.

The care and support they provide connects them to something bigger than themselves.

What are the types of care?

Our team will work with you to find the type of foster care that suits you and your family. It could be long-term care, just for a short time, or on an occasional basis.

What support do foster carers receive?

- Financial assistance
Foster carers receive a fortnightly caregiver reimbursement.
- Tailored support
Expert support along the way from our friendly and approachable team.
- Continuous growth
Ongoing training and development opportunities.
- Connected community
Networking events and celebrations to recognise, thank and connect our carers.

Why partner with Berry Street?

For over 145 years, we've been supporting children and young people – at whatever point in their journey that they need help.

Our trauma-informed approach supports children and young people to recover from trauma and go on to lead healthy, happy lives.

Join our team as a Berry Street foster carer and walk alongside a child or young person who has experienced trauma.

Together, we'll encourage and empower them to grow, develop and feel safe.
